Bay Tree Montessori

We aim to provide every child with a highly stimulating, caring Montessori educational environment for children. An environment within which each child is safe and happy and able to develop at their own pace, to his/her full potential. Nursery education for most children is their first step outside the family unit. At the Bay Tree we recognise the importance of this transition. Together we can lay the foundations for learning, and nurture the development of your child.

The Facilities

Our school building was once the 'Richmond Printing Press' where the early paperback penguin books were produced. It has been completely refurbished creating a custom built Montessori nursery school. We have designed the classroom to lead directly onto under cover decking, on which the children can do their work outside. We have laid down an artificial lawn, which is appealing to the eye and can withstand the activities of busy children. We also have a summerhouse with a veranda (supplied with electricity), which is used for music, story telling and cultural activities.

The Teachers

A child's first teacher plays a pivotal role in nurturing a love of learning. The Bay Tree has a dedicated and experienced team that is committed to providing the highest quality of education and care. By building strong lines of communication between the teachers and the parents/carers we can work together in the best interests of your child.

The nursery manager was awarded Child Carer of the Year 2005.

Purnima Tanuku, Chief Executive of National Day Nurseries Association comments: "NDNA is delighted to celebrate and reward the outstanding work, commitment and dedication of day nurseries in the community. It is always very difficult to select a winner, as every nursery worker deserves to be recognised, but Alex shows exceptional quality and makes a difference to children's lives every day." Illness and Medicine

We rely on all parents/carers to take care not bring their child to nursery if they are unwell. Particular care should be taken to maintain a period of absence of 48 hours after a bout of sickness or diarrhoea. We will contact you if your child becomes unwell at nursery, and only if necessary request you come and collect your child.

We will not administer any medicines without your specific written instructions and authorisation to do so.

Montessori Curriculum

Practical Life

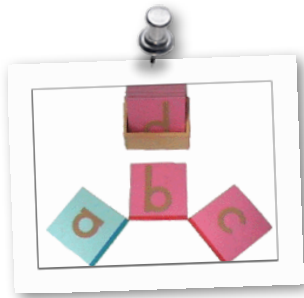

Practical life describes the area of the Montessori curriculum in which the child is able to learn and refine practical skills. These are skills as adults we take for granted, but to a child they are exciting and new. Every day activities such as pouring, transferring, polishing, threading, cleaning, cutting and fixing are introduced to the child. With each of these tasks accomplished he/she grows in confidence and independence, indirectly helping his/her ability for logical thinking, concentration, fine and gross motor skills, hand-eye co-ordination and self-esteem.

Practical life is the foundation for future learning and these direct and indirect skills are used not only in all other areas of the curriculum, but are with the child for life.

Sensorial

Our very first impressions of the world are formed through our senses. Dr Montessori designed materials which refine the child's ability to understand all these sensory inputs. By having specific exercises which isolate different qualities, such as colour, texture, size, dimension, weight, taste and sound the child is able to distinguish and categorise them.

Language

A child is developing language skills in every area of the nursery as soon as they start. New vocabulary is learnt, listening skills are enhanced and fine motor skills are refined even before the child actively engages in any formal language activities. The whole Montessori curriculum lays down a solid foundation for language development. Montessori uses the phonic approach to reading and writing and has specific language materials that allow a child to develop at his/her own pace.

Mathematics

Dr Montessori designed maths materials in the same way as every other piece of equipment in the curriculum, as something for the child to discover, to handle and touch. By starting with a concrete understanding, physically quantifying, comparing and ordering the child eventually leads on to abstract understanding and a love of maths.

Culture

Dr Montessori believed in the development of the whole child. By introducing the child to all aspects of the world, such as geography, botany, science, history, music, dance and art, he/she develops an impression of the world as a whole and an understanding of his/her place within it.
